CARE INSTRUCTIONS

Aniline leather is the most natural looking leather, the unique surface characteristics of the animal hide remains visible. Hence, a degree of natural marks and shade variation is to be expected.

Aniline leather has a natural, warm and soft grip, but is also very sensitive and develops a typical patina over time. Stains will become visible if not cleaned off immediately and the color of the leather will fade over time.

Be careful if using any leather protection of grease. Make absolutely sure that the product you use to clean or maintain the leather doesn't change the coloring or leaves permanent marks.
